

A Look at Inequality and Violence in Brazil from Rio de Janeiro

A LECTURE BY LUCAS LOUBACK

Monday, April 4
4:00 p.m.
PSFA 136

This talk offers an overview of the deterioration of Brazil's democracy amidst rigid social inequality in the city of Rio de Janeiro, the lethality of the police force and the formation of paramilitary groups with influence in politics.

Lucas Louback is a theologian, human rights activist and manager of social impact and advocacy projects at the NGO Rio de Paz. He coordinates social projects to reduce inequality and public manifestations of political pressure to reduce violent deaths.

This event is hosted by
BRAZ 222: Art, Sport and
Culture in Contemporary Brazil

